St. Paul's Church Begins 6-Month Celebration of Its 125th Anniversary

A parish which in the mid-19th century had no church, no rectory, no money and no land on which to build began on Sunday a six-month celebration of its 125th anniversary.

St. Paul's Catholic Church and its mission, St. James of Rocky Hill, today numbers 2,187 families who keep three priests busy, has a thriving parochial school of 500 children and owns land in West Windsor and in Montgomery Townships for future parish expansion. Over the span of the past century and a quarter, the parish has built four churches--the first three giving way successively as need for expansion developed.

St. Paul's dates back to September 1850, when Father John Scollard was sent here as the first resident pastor. Before that time, priests from St. Patrick's (now St. Peter's) Church in New Brunswick visited Princeton as a mission. They said Mass to some 60 families in a farmhouse near the Alexander Street basin which belonged to Governor Charles Olden (whose home was Drumthwacket) and which was occupied by James Boyle.

Arriving in Princeton, Father Scollard rented a hall on Nassau Street and formalized the mission into the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of Princeton. As soon as possible, he purchased a lot at 182 Nassau Street and on St. Patrick's Day, in March of 1850, with the help of every able-bodied man, broke ground for the first Catholic Church in Princeton.

After the foundation was laid, the walls of the church rose slowly. Father Scollard travelled on foot all that winter through the surrounding communities to solicit labor or materials for his church. Two years were required to complete it.

The parishioners then turned their attention to building a rectory behind the church. Later moved forward and remodelled, it became a residence, and today is the office of Dr. Louis Rampona. Father Scollard also opened the first church school in the church basement.

In 1857, Father Scollard was transferred and was succeeded by Father Young, a convert from Episcopalianism. As a boy growing up in Princeton where he later attended the University, Father Young once in curiosity slipped out of Episcopal services just as the sermon began and ran through the woods to hear Mass said by the visiting priest in the Boyle farmhouse. "About 12 years from the day I saw holy mass celebrated in that shanty," he wrote later, "I was the Catholic parish priest of my own town, and the first mass I celebrated there was with the identical vestments the priest wore on that day."

Father Young was the initiator of the musical tradition of the parish. He placed the first melodeon in the church, which was replaced in 1859 with an organ. Being a convert, he was eager to convert others. In January, 1859, he invited three other converts to conduct a week-long mission to which he asked all the townspeople.

Taxes Required by Pending Public School Education Act May Strike Hard at Borough Property Owners and in Nearby Towns

An almost unnoticed clause in the Public School Education Act of 1975, which is aimed at implementing the much-discussed thorough and efficient system of public education in New Jersey could cost taxpayers in Princeton Borough, Plainsboro Township and Hopewell Township hundreds of dollars a year in additional taxes.

Hardest hit would be Plainsboro, where the owner of a house assessed at $50,000 would have to pay more than $500 a year in additional school taxes. In the Borough, officials estimate that the bill would raise the levy by 44 tax points, or an additional $220 on a residence assessed at $50,000. In Hopewell Township, rough estimate indicated that the owner of a similarly valued house would suddenly be faced with an additional $50 per year in school taxes.

The culprit, from the point of view of these municipalities, is a section of the bill requiring regional school systems to share the burden of cost on an equalized valuation basis rather than the per-pupil basis now in effect. The bill has passed the State Senate, and is now before the educational committee of the State Assembly.

In Plainsboro, citizens have already begun an effort to change the thinking of the legislators. The citizens hope that a "grandfather" clause can be instituted that would allow existing regional school systems to maintain their present means of financing, or, at least, that the new system can implement gradually, so that the shock to individual taxpayers is less great.

Last week the Plainsboro Township Committee passed a resolution urging that this section of the proposed law be changed. The resolution was distributed shortly thereafter to Assemblymen. This Tuesday, school board members and political leaders from both parties in Plainsboro, plus interested citizens, distributed leaflets door-to-door in the community, urging citizens to write or cable their assemblymen.

Cornforth Concerned. The section of the bill dealing with sharing of costs among municipalities in a regional district was little noticed by everyone except former Borough Councilman Charles Cornforth. Mr. Cornforth became aware of the bill about six months ago, and appeared before the Joint Education Committee considering it.

The concern he expressed was based on fairly straightforward arithmetic. The Borough, which formed the regional school district with the Township in 1966, contributes only about 29 percent of the pupils to the school system. But the Borough contains about 34 percent of the tax ratables in the two municipalities.

If the bill becomes law, the Borough would have to pay a share of school support proportionate to its tax ratables. Its share would increase by about $450,000 a year. The Township's share would decrease by that same amount.

Mr. Cornforth studied the figures and kept arguing against this section of the bill, but to no avail and with little public interest. Then the Senate passed its portion of the bill on May 27, and its enactment became more of a reality. Mr. Cornforth also figured the proposed law's impact on Plainsboro, which in 1971 had regionalized with West Windsor Township. It was disastrous.

Evolution or Revolution. On Sunday, June 8, Mr. Cornforth and Borough Mayor Robert Cawley notified Plainsboro Township Clerk Chet Steen, who in turn alerted the Committee to the problem. School Board Member Barbara Wright also became active in the fight against the bill.

"It's our senior citizens on fixed incomes who are suddenly faced with another $300 in taxes—they're the ones who will really be zonked," said Mrs. Wright. "No system needs to revolt in this fashion. In this case even an evolutionary change (if the change were implemented over five years, for example) wouldn't be easy."

The Plainsboro citizens are aiming their protests primarily at Albert Burstein, a Democrat who is chairman of the Assembly's education committee, and Princeton's Anne Martindell, who was a co-sponsor of the bill in the Senate.

Ironies Abound. Mrs. Martindell lives in the Borough, which will be hurt by the present terms of the bill. She also represents Plainsboro, which is believed to be the most adversely affected municipality in the state, but she does not represent West Windsor, which would enjoy a slight relief in individual property taxes under the bill.

Harmony Threatened? In Plainsboro-West Windsor, where the greatest disparity exists between per pupil assessments and tax ratables, the school system is also one of the most harmonious. "The very sad thing," said Mrs. Wright, "is that we have had an excellent regionalization here and a lot of harmony with West Windsor."

West Windsor's taxes stand to decrease only about 11 percent, but, as Mrs. Wright points out, "their taxes are higher than Plainsboro's in the first place."

consideration a policy governing the reading of public communication at board meetings; postponed a deadline for the compilation of goals for the school system, from June 30 to September 30; and put on ice, for the time being at least, its running confrontation with School Superintendent Philip E. McPherson.

WEDNESDAY APPROVED
At Final School Meeting. With only Board President Winthrop Pike dissenting, the Princeton Regional Board of Education last week approved the revised Wednesday program for school and staff development. The Wednesday program, which had been one of several points of controversy between the board and school administrators in the past year, drew generous praise from most board members in what was the last, and probably also least heated, board meeting of the school year.

The board also continued its discussion on the subject of student fees; introduced for

In Princeton, as Mr. Cornforth points out, the bill would work exactly opposite the good intentions of the legislators, who in the "thorough and efficient" spirit want to equalize educational costs and opportunities between rich and poor communities.

According to Mr. Cornforth's study of the 1970 census data for the Princetonians, excluding students, the average per family income in the Township is 50 percent more than that in the Borough. Under the provisions of the proposed law, Borough families are the ones hit with the increased property tax.

'Saving Clause.' Opponents of the bill point out that all of the regional school systems in this area were formed on a per-pupil basis of cost sharing. In fact, if a state law had not been enacted in 1953 to allow this method of regionalization, the opponents argue, most of these school mergers never would have occurred.

Janice Schneier, the Democratic candidate for mayor in the Borough, voiced her support for a "saving clause" in the final legislation that would have the effect of exempting existing regional school districts and preserving the contract between the two Princetonons."

Advocates of some sort of change in school financing argue that the per-pupil system is not constitutional under the terms of the Cahill v. Robinson decision. Their position is buttressed somewhat by the fact that one of the bill's sponsors, State Senator Stephen Wiley, is considered a respected constitutional lawyer.

The opponents are moving ahead, trying to find other legal authorities to argue that the per-pupil system is constitutional. Plainsboro, in fact has asked its township attorney, Joseph Stonaker—the husband of Mrs. Schneier—to enlist the support of other constitutional lawyers in the state.

Gradual Means Sought. Compromise seemed to be building this week. Lucy Mackenzie of Princeton, a Democratic nominee for Assembly, pointed out that "perhaps there is something to be said for a revision in the method of financing. But we must look for some means of doing it in a gradual way."

She said that the legislators in Trenton were now taking the concerns of communities like Plainsboro and Princeton Borough in a "serious way," and she indicated that those seeking to modify the bill have been helped by the snarl arising over the consideration of the income tax bill.

"We've bought some time," she said.

Next public meeting—battle?—is scheduled for Tuesday, September 2, the day after Labor Day. No one knows for sure, but the chances seem good that all combatants will be back in place at that time.

The biggest question mark is Dr. McPherson. Just a month ago, the school board was meeting with the New Jersey School Boards Association and considering suspension of the superintendent. "The chances for reconciliation are not very hopeful," Mr. Pike said then. "There is not much that would change the board's view of the superintendent. I think we would be better off without him, and you might say the best solution is a divorce."

This week the plan of action seemed more deliberate. Members of the board met again Monday night with

Unfortunately, the sub-flooring was not strong enough for the crowd, and during an evening service the altar was seen to sway and the sanctuary floor caved in. No one was hurt, but the building was declared unsafe for worship and in March was torn down, the stones being reserved for future use.

The property at 182 Nassau Street was sold, and 12 acres with a house on it were acquired at the present site, added in 1871 and in 1879, when 214 Nassau. The house was renovated to serve as a rectory and a frame addition built to serve as a temporary church and school. Sometime between 1850 and 1857, the parish was renamed St. Paul's.

The cornerstone for this church was laid in 1869, a spire added in 1871 and in 1879, when the mortgage was paid off, the Church was solemnly consecrated by Bishop Michael Corrigan.

A new rectory was built in 1874, and the former frame building was used for education. In 1878 Father Second "Founder." In 1867 Father Thomas R. Moran, who might be called the Church's second founding pastor and for whom Moran Avenue was named, began a 33-year pastorate which was marked by construction and expansion. The foundations and landscaping for a new church had been laid, and Father Moran's first task was to complete the brick and stone building for $25,000, using stones from the Father Scollard Church and the organ purchased by Father Young.

The cornerstone for this church was laid in 1869, a spire added in 1871 and in 1879, when the mortgage was paid off, the Church was solemnly consecrated by Bishop Michael Corrigan.

A new rectory was built in 1874, and the former frame building was used for education. In 1878 Father

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, 1871 TO THE EARLY 1900's; Also known as the Moran Church for the pastor who saw to its construction, it was demolished in 1955 to make way for the present St. Paul's Church.

Moran brought six teaching Sisters from the Sisters of Mercy in Manchester, N.H., to Mercy in Manchester, N.H., to doubled in size. In 1912 the run the parochial school and whole front of the church was the religious education program. This in turn required construction of another building, on the site of the present school, which housed a convent, the school and St. Scholastica's Academy for Girls.

In 1890, a house on the corner of Nassau and Moore Street was purchased, thus expanding the property, and the old frame building was sold. The front section, Father Young's rectory, was moved intact to 6-8 Charlton Street, where it is now the law offices of Cahill, McCarthy and Hicks. Lumber from the rear portion was used in the 10-12 Charlton Street residence of a present parishioner, Mrs. J. Charles Guinn.

In 1892 Father Moran was made a monsignor and four years later was appointed Vicar General of the Diocese. In March, 1900, he died of pneumonia contracted while making a sick call in the Stony Brook area. He is the only pastor of the Church buried in its cemetery.

Father Leahy in 1904. Further expansion took place under the pastorate of Father Walter Leahy, a Benedictine monk before coming to Princeton in 1904. Side alcoves were added first to the Church

The need for a new school became more critical with each passing year, and in 1930 a school and Lyceum arose on the foundation of the 1880 school built during Father Moran's pastorate. In 1944, with pomp and ceremony, the 100th anniversary of the Princeton Catholic Mission in the Boyle farmhouse was celebrated.

In spite of efforts over the years to keep St. Paul's Church, rectory and convent in good condition, it became apparent that the buildings were inadequate to meet the needs of the growing parish and had structural weaknesses beyond repair. In April, 1955, Father Edward C.

Henry informed the parishioners that the Church would have to be demolished as would the rectory and the convent. Many in Princeton bemoaned loss of the Moran buildings.

The Old and the New. Before the Church was torn down, Father Henry had the stained glass windows, the Stations of the Cross, the St. Joseph Altar, the Baptismal Font, the 1917 organ, the 1919 bell and the altar furnishings removed for use in the new Church. In keeping with a tradition in which something of the old church was incorporated into the new, the main altar and the Blessed Virgin Mary Altar were crushed and mixed into the concrete poured into the foundation of the new church.

The new convent, which was built on the foundations of the Moran Church, and the new rectory were completed first in 1956. The following March, Bishop Ahr of Trenton blessed and dedicated the new church. In 1970, after a pastorate of 20 years, Father Henry was assigned at his request to Morris Hall Home and Rehabilitation Center in Lawrenceville and was succeeded by Monsignor John J. Endebrock.

Although it is anticipated that someday St. James will be its own parish and that another church will be built on land owned in West Windsor, no further construction is planned at the moment.

The 125-year history of St. Paul's reads like a chronicle of kings, with each individual pastor making his mark on the parish during a time when Church and pastor exerted strong authority. In 1972, partly as a result of the Second Vatican Council and partly as a return to much earlier Church customs, the first Parish Council was formed at St. Paul's.

This 39-member Council has done much to assist in the administration of the parish and through its committees to oversee its spiritual and material welfare. According to the assistant pastor, life-long as well as new parishioners comment on the present viability and warmth at St. Paul's, and he gives much of the credit to the activities of the Parish Council. One of its happier chores has been to plan the six-month celebration of the 125th Anniversary.

WHAT'S A 4TH OF JULY WITHOUT FIREWORKS? Well, Princeton residents will have a chance to find out this year as the American Legion has announced it will not hold its annual fireworks display at Palmer Stadium. Increasingly heavy work loads to organize the affair, and skyrocketing ticket prices just to break even were cited as contributing factors.

The Legion had sponsored the fireworks display for close to half a century in Palmer Stadium. It was suspended once about 20 years ago or so when the stadium was closed for two summers for installation of new seats. Otherwise it was much a part of Fourth of July as flags flying on the tree streets or beer and barbecue in the backyard.

Stepping in and hoping to fill the ceremonial void is the Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring a "Princeton Community Picnic Day" on July 4 at Community Park.

The Chamber has no formal organizational plans for the day. It just hopes that families will turn out for picnics, swimming, tennis, horse shoes, knock hockey, chess and checkers, softball, and the old Italian favorite, bocce. All activities will be free except swimming in the pool and snacks from the snack bar.

Reservations are required for the tennis courts. Players should sign up July 3.

LOOP BUS HALT LIKELY

For July and August. Communication gap. Misinformation. Misinterpretation. On two separate issues in recent weeks, Township Committee apparently has failed to make itself perfectly clear, to borrow a phrase, to both Princeton Borough and Princeton University. Committeemen and women were grumbling about both at Mondays meeting.

The communication gap with the Borough involves the fate of the loop bus for the summer months. Borough Council at its meeting of a week ago passed a resolution authorizing an extension of support for the bus for another six months, but then announced that the bus service would be suspended during July and August, when ridership is expected to drop off sharply anyhow.

Committee was off-guard. "It came as a surprise to us," said Mayor Jay Bleiman. "We realized there would be a fall-off in ridership but we didn't want to a priori suspend service without investigating other possibilities." The mayor thought reducing hours of service during the summer might be one compromise solution.

Committee thought that the Borough had the same inclination. "Apparently the Borough representative on the Joint Transportation Committee misinterpreted our member," said Mr. Bleiman. "I'm sure it was nothing deliberate on the Borough's part."

The subject will be discussed again in executive session next Monday but the Mayor is not optimistic about any summer bus service. That fate will disappoint at least some residents, including Mrs. Peggy Van Horn of 16 Gulick Road, whose letter in support of the system was read at the meeting: "I was looking forward to a pleasant, quiet summer... with the bus taking my four kids to their various activities." Better start thinking about car pooling, Mrs. Van Horn.

Fireworks Again. Committee was still fired up about the University's Senior Prom and fireworks display. Abbot

Low Moffat read verbatim from the application submitted by the University, which said the fireworks would be a visual display only with none of the bombs bursting in air effects. "They said they would hold the display at any hour Committee thought appropriate but since they promised a subdued event we figured they could have it at midnight," said Mr. Moffat.

What resulted, according to reports he received, was something more like a military exercise. "This is a situation which has been rather laughed off by University officials," Mr. Moffat said. "The University owes this Committee a written report on how this was allowed to happen."

William T. Sutphin said "this failure on the part of the University to comply with the terms of this agreement casts rather serious doubt on their credibility. As an alumnus I view with disapproval their lack of compliance."

Mr. Moffat pointed out that nearly 100 telephoned complaints were received by the two police departments. Mr. Bleiman said he received four calls at about 12:40 before he could get his phone off the hook. Mr. Sutphin said that one irate citizen came into headquarters to sign a complaint against the University. "If he didn't actually do so he should be notified that he still has the right to file one."

Ordinances Passed. Committee later approved a request by the Recreation Department for amplified music at a concert July 10 at Battlefield Park, between the hours of 7:30 and 8:30. "That should bother no one at that time," said Mr. Moffat.

In other action, Committee approved the environmental design review ordinance and companion code amendment dealing with major subdivisions; and passed a resolution authorizing application for $115,000 in state Green Acres funds for bike path construction.

An extensive review of the development plan for the north side of Community Park also was presented to Committee and the dozen citizens at the meeting. The plan for the passive recreation area, which will include picnic tables, two-acre pond, bike and hiking paths, and a small amphitheater, now may be submitted to the state's Bureau of Outdoor

Parking Ban in Township

Township police will again ban parking on both sides of some streets and portions of others to accommodate the expected crowds of spectators for the National Women's Crew Championships to be held Thursday through Sunday on Lake Carnegie.

Parking will be banned on both sides of Roper Road, Carnegie Drive, Random Road, White Pine Lane, Marion Road (East and West), Gulick Road and Herrontown Road.

Other streets where parking will be prohibited in certain areas are Route 27, Riverside Drive East, Littlebrook Road, Poe Road, Prospect Avenue, Evergreen Circle, Shady Brook Lane, River Road and Dodds Lane. The no-parking signs will be posted and enforced by Township police.

Recreation for review. Once agreement is reached with that agency, the project can be put out for bids.

When might it be completed? Construction could start by September 1, and the park could be in use by next spring, if all goes perfectly, according to Mayor Bleiman, who added a quick warning: "I hate to be optimistic about anything."

Miller Moves Up. Committee accepted one resignation and tabled another. James E. Ward, who would like to resign as chairman of the Board of Adjustment, is being asked by Committee to hold his resignation in abeyance, since the Board already has one vacancy to fill.

Assistant Administrator Girard C. Miller handed in his resignation and prepared to take over as the first fulltime administrator in West Windsor Township. Mr. Miller came to the Township two years ago as a 22-year-old boy wonder. Now, at age 24, he is already a full administrator and an old man; his wife gave birth to a boy last Friday.

Charged with possession of marijuana and LSD were: Hilary Brown, 23; Appleton Fryer, Jr., 21; and Charles Read, 22, all of the Wiggins Street address; Mark Melnicove, 23, of Bethesda, Md.; Dawn McGuire, 21, of Lexington, Ky., and Plummer Munt, 22, Hillside Avenue. Brown and Read were also charged with growing marijuana.

Charged the next day with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana and LSD was Christopher Ross, 24, 28½ Wiggins. Police said that he had appeared at headquarters to inquire about the search warrant and was placed under arrest.

All have been released in their own recognition and are scheduled to appear in Borough court August 6.

The arrests were the result, said Chief Michael Carnevale, of a two-month investigation by Det. Timothy Huizing, head of the department's narcotics squad, and Det. Ronald Holliday. Joining the detectives in executing the search warrant were Ptl. James Agins and Ptl. Victor Fasanella. All the suspects were arrested in the living room.

According to Chief Carnevale, the arresting officers seized a quantity of marijuana, weighing an estimated 50 to 75 grams; six marijuana plants, each about two feet high; 11 pipes in various sizes and shapes, each containing a suspected marijuana residue; eight tablets believed to be LSD and a scale.

The normal amount of rainfall for June was long since doubled, and it could triple in the remaining 11 days. As a result, various plagues that keep Green Thumbs scurrying protectively around their gardens are having a banner season.

Despite a trend away from temperatures that have been running below normal to more typical June heat and humidity, the Man actually thinks we are in for a few dry days. Seasonably warm (above 80 in daytime hours) and sunny skies through Sunday, he claims.

At last week's meeting the Board approved the appointment of Estelle Browne as acting director of staff services. Dr. Vieland, denied reappointment by the board, finishes her job this Friday. 'Critical Time.' "I'll be very sorry, if it does work out that way, that we will end up losing momentum with the Wednesday program at a critical time," Dr. Vieland said.

The Wednesday program, first instituted in January, 1969, gave students an afternoon off every Wednesday and gave teachers and staff an opportunity to work on educational problems, the development of curricula, and so on. The program came under internal and external review, and earlier this year, the consensus of opinion was that it should be restructured.

The school board decreed that the program should take only half as many Wednesdays as before, and that it should be more rigorously structured. The new program is divided into five four-week

SILVERWARE IS STOLEN From Palmer House. Eleven pieces of sterling silverware with a combined value of $2,685 were stolen Thursday afternoon from Princeton University-owned Palmer House, 1 Bayard Lane.

Police said that the items were all taken from cupboards in the dining room. There was no forced entry.

The most expensive article, police said, was a five-piece English Victorian sterling coffee set engraved with flowers and garlands valued at $1500. Detectives Timothy Huizing and Ronald Holliday are investigating.

John Lasley of Cherry Valley Road reported the theft last week from his home of four camera lenses which were valued at $770. There were no signs of forced entry, police said.

A leather suitcase, 35mm camera and clothing with a combined value of $450 were stolen one morning last week from Room 231 in 1942 Hall on the University campus. Police identified the owner as Brig Klyce. The room was unlocked.

Stolen from a car parked in front of the Wooden Nickel on Nassau Street between 1 and 9 a.m. Friday were a tan suede coat ($50), a black boiling pot ($25) and a box of assorted clothing ($100).

Police, who reported the victim was a resident of Frenchtown, said that a front vent window had been forced.

A pipe threader and cutter and other equipment owned by the Peifer Electrical Company of Trenton were reported stolen Friday from a construction site at the Westminster Choir College. The construction area is fenced in, according to police, who were not informed of the value of the stolen tools.

University Joins Golf Club as Defendant In Case of Racial Bias Against Applicant

The New Jersey Division on Civil Rights has declared that it considers both Springdale Golf Club and Princeton University "public accommodations," and will look upon them in that light in its charge that the club discriminated against Marvin Trotman more than a year ago when the black Princeton High School basketball coach was denied membership.

Princeton University will now be required to respond to the charge, following a ruling by Vernon N. Potter, Director of the Civil Rights Division. Mr. Potter asserts that the University is a place of public accommodation, that as such it is subject to laws involving discriminatory acts, and that it owns the land used by the golf club.

Springdale records show that those who formed the club just after the turn of the century deeded the land to the University around 1907. Taxes on the land have always been paid by Springdale, in whose governing policies the University has never played a part.

Mr. Potter further charges that the University has a representative on the club's board of governors, and "as such is responsible through this representative for the government and management of the club." James Litvack, a member of the administration expert from the Library of Congress said the survey's questions were so worded and arranged that they encouraged a negative response from the public. The critics pointed out that the Business Roundtable, a group of business leaders, paid ORC $25,000 for the poll, the results of which were released just before the Senate passed legislation to create the agency.

PERCY CHALLENGES ORC Opinions Differ on Poll. Opinion Research Corporation, the national polling firm headquartered at North Harrison Street, has been criticized by the Library of Congress and Illinois Senator Charles H. Percy for a poll it took showing that 75 percent of those questioned were against the formation of a federal consumer protection agency.

Senator Percy and a polling

In the opinion of pollsters at ORC, the flap was another case of people not agreeing with the results of a poll trying to tear apart the survey.

"Question wording is an art, but in our minds these were fair ones that reflected the reality of the situation," said Harry O'Neill, executive vice-president of ORC. "We asked people if they would favor the establishment of an additional federal agency, on top of other agencies, such as the Federal Trade Commission, to watch out for the consumers' interests."

We reflected reality-- it's been called a 'super agency,' and that of course is one reason why people didn't like it. People today just aren't that thrilled with big government," said Mr. O'Neill.

Art Vs. Science. A Princeton woman writing in the mailbox section of this week's TOWN TOPICS charged that the survey results are the ones "desired by those paying for the survey; which may not be what the victimized citizen really wanted."

Senator Percy was quoted as saying that the survey "just isn't accurate. My own mail and conversations with consumers around the country testify to that."

Mr. O'Neill said "question wording may be an art, but sampling is a science." ORC questioned 2,000 people nationwide between January 10 and February 3. The firm stands by its survey.

SECOND FATAL ACCIDENT IN SIX DAYS: Six days after three students were killed in crash in Bayard Lane, this car failed to make a curve on lower Alexander Street near West Driva early Sunday morning and struck the Stony Brook Bridge. A passenger was killed and the driver seriously injured. It marked the first time there were two fatal accidents in the Township within a week.

PASSENGER IS KILLED

In Bridge Accident. A Princeton Junction man was killed early Sunday morning when the car in which he was riding struck the Stony Brook Bridge on Lower Alexander Street. It was the second fatal accident in the Township within six days.

Pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Joel Felsher of Princeton Medical Center, a passerby, was Robert A. Schenck, 25, 31 Cranbury Road. Dr. Felsher administered first aid to the driver, Michael A. Metz, 23, of Cranbury.

Mr. Metz was taken by the Princeton First Aid Squad to Princeton Medical Center where he was admitted in serious condition. He was operated on for internal injuries. He also sustained a fractured hip and abrasions.

There were no witnesses to the single car accident which occurred around 12:30 a.m. The car, a 1969 two-door sedan, was demolished.

The victim was a parts manager for Trenton Toyota on Route 1. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schenck of Princeton Junction and a sister in Key West, Fla. An autopsy was performed by Mercer County Physician Dr. David Fluck.

According to Sgt. Anthony Nini, Township Traffic Safety Officer, the car apparently failed to make a curve and first struck a concrete abutment leading to the bridge. A front portion of the car became wedged between the abutment and bridge girder and was wrenched free. The car continued across the bridge and struck the opposite wall.

The victim was pinned inside the car. A power tool from the First Aid Squad was needed to free him and the part of the car wedged between the girder and abutment. The driver, police said, was half-thrown from the car.

Sgt. Nini reported that a man inside the Rusty Scupper restaurant some 400 feet away heard the crash. Investigating, he was unable to see anything, Sgt. Nini said, but knew something had happened and called police. Passersby were administering first aid when police arrived.

"This is the second violent crash within six days," commented Sgt. Nini. "It's the first time we've ever had fatalities that close." The weather was clear and the roads dry at the time of the

Driver Charged

Township police have charged Daniel J. Dolby, 25, of Oaks, Pa., the driver in last week's crash which claimed the lives of three students, with three counts of death by auto.

Mr. Dolby was arraigned Thursday before Judge Philip Carchman and later released in $3,000 bail. He made no statement, reported Lt. Michael Lisi. No court date has been set.

There may be other charges against Mr. Dolby, Lt. Lisi said, pending the completion of the investigation.

In Rights Complaint. The Division of Civil Rights and the New Jersey Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith (ADL) have announced the filing by ADL of a complaint against International Schools Services, a teacher recruitment agency based at 126 Alexander Street. At a news conference held last week at the National ADL headquarters in New York City, it was announced that "the civil rights complaint is part of a nationwide thrust by the League to compel companies who are discriminating against American Jews to cease and desist their collusion in discrimination with the Arab countries."

The complaint charges that International Schools Services (ISS) issued job orders for a position in the United Arab Emirates State of Dubai which prohibited the employment of anyone who has "a Jewish surname, or who is an American Jew, or who has Jewish ancestors."

An ADL spokesman said, "We will not stand silently by while foreign Arab powers attempt to impose discriminatory and racist concepts on American companies which, in turn, will cause Americans to be discriminated against."

Vernon N. Potter, director of the Division on Civil Rights, noted that the allegations of creed and ancestry discrimination in the Services' advertisement and hiring practices will be the first such "internationally far-reaching" complaint before the state's anti-discrimination agency.

The Anti-Defamation League will also be asking for a patrol car to Princeton a compliance review from the Medical Center where he was treated for abrasions of the Department of Health, ankles. The investigating officer, Ptl. Bernard ISS is under contract with Lenhardt, described the investigation as a "dangerous HEW. The national action by ADL will also include charges one."

Commission.

ISS Comment. Dr. John A. Sly, president of International Schools Services, said that the agency recruits teachers for English-speaking schools located in countries throughout the world. "We do deal with some Arab countries," he said, "and we also work with Israel."

On the advice of his lawyers, Dr. Sly said, he has decided that further comment at this time would be inappropriate. "Please don't write that I have 'no comment,' because that sounds like I have something to hide. And I don't."

MRS. SCHLUTER WINS
New GOP Chairman. Nancy Schluter of Pennington last week was elected Mercer County Republican chairman by defeating the choice of the outgoing party leader, W. Harry Sayen, the Republican candidate for county executive.

Mrs. Schluter outpolled Joseph E. Gonzalez, 137 to 106, and then, in an apparent show of party unity, asked Mr. Gonzalez to run for the position of party treasurer. He was elected unanimously.

Wife of former state senator and assemblyman William Schluter, the new chairman promised to work for Mr. Sayen's election in November. The Schluters in the past have not been considered political allies of Mr. Sayen.

Mr. Sayen returned the favor by saying: "I'm trying to develop complete party unity. I support Nancy completely. Party is always more important than individuals."

Municipal chairman in Pennington every year except one since 1963, Mrs. Schluter also is a state committeewoman and a member of the State Republic executive committee. A founder of the Mercer County Republican Women's Division, she served in 1972 as county chairman for the reelection of Richard Nixon.

MEETING JUNE 26
For Rent Leveling. Borough Council will meet in special session next Thursday at 8 to re-introduce the rent leveling ordinance. The current ordinance, passed a year ago after much heated discussion, expires August 1.

The new ordinance, according to Borough officials, contains several changes. It will be discussed next week and then acted upon at another special meeting that will be held later in July. Council will also hold its regular monthly meeting on July 8.

Assessor Still Sought. The Borough, which several weeks ago announced the retirement of Edward G. Warren, for 19 years the tax assessor, still seeks a replacement for Mr. Warren.

The part-time position pays about $8,000 a year, but the person filling it has to be a certified assessor. That requirement makes this job opening difficult to fill.

MRS. SIGMUND FAILS

Cost, Time Cut in Furnishing of Clarke House; Contributions of Furnishings Are Now Sought

What was estimated by experts to be a two-year job, costing approximately $150,000—the furnishing of the Thomas Clarke House in Princeton Battlefield Park—has been half-completed five months at an expenditure of less than $5,000, according to officers of the Princeton Battlefield Area Preservation Society.

One reason for cutting the cost was research done on the records of the Clarke House—to which General Mercer was taken after being wounded in the Battle of Princeton—and of similar 18th century farmhouses in the vicinity. These records made it clear that many of the expensive items on the early want-list were not needed in a modest dwelling, such as the Clarke House was at the time of the Battle.

A floor plan of the proposed refurbishing shows that only 15 to 20 major items of furniture are required, plus 8 to 10 chairs, and all but a few of these have already come into the possession of the Society, thanks to the generosity of donors in the Princeton area. A few items, given long ago to the State of New Jersey by the Clarke family, were discovered in the State Museum at Ringwood. The Furnishings Committee of the Society, under the leadership of Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding, splay-legged tables, small round tables, and washstands, blanket chests and a trundle bed.

Jr., has been active in following leads of all kinds, and has been able to make a few fortunate purchases.

Final plans for the development of the Park have been completed by architect John Dickey. Contract bids for the restoration of the Clarke House are expected to be let within the next few weeks, and State officials are hopeful that the work can be finished by the summer of 1976, months before the Bicentennial of the Battle of Princeton on January 3, 1977.

The Princeton Battlefield Area Preservation Society has contributed to the cost of the plans, as well as assuming responsibility for the furnishing of the Clarke House. Members of the Furnishing Committee, in addition to Mrs. Wilmerding, are Mesdames T.R.P. Alsop, Douglas Delaney, Alma Field, Gordon Sikes, Homer A. Thompson and G.P. Tschebotarioff.

Although most of the large pieces required are now on hand, there is still need for many objects of various kinds if the Clarke House is to have the appearance of the home of a large and active family. Items of furniture still needed include a small wing chair,

Smaller items needed are a crane, andirons, trivets, and many kinds of 18th century cooking equipment; pewter eating utensils, red-ware pottery, pewter and wooden plates, mugs, horn cups, tankards; brass candlesticks, a candle box, sconces, a lantern, an early clock such as a "wag-on-the-wall" clock, picture frames of the period, a large Bible; also, a deer-skin rug, a gun, a pipe-rack, bootjacks, a leather fire-bucket, woven rag rugs, and ceramic ornaments. In all cases the objects must date from 1776 or earlier.

The Furnishings Committee is also anxious for homespun linen and wool to be used on beds or for upholstery and curtains. The exact date of this material is not important.

Appeal is made to persons who possess articles of the kind needed, and who would be willing to donate them to the Society or to lend them on a long-term basis. All prospective donors are asked to get in touch with Mrs. Thomas R.P. Alsop, 119 Westcott Road, telephone 924-9366.

tenders. The freeholders, legally charged with filling the vacancy, had told the Democratic Committee that they would abide by its recommendation.

Democrats now consider Mrs. Sigmund the likely replacement for Freeholder Director Arthur Sypek, if he wins his race for county executive in November; or for Freeholder Gil Lugossy, if he wins re-election as the full-time mayor of Hamilton Township.

Dual Service? If Mrs. Sigmund wins her re-election campaign for Borough Council, observers believe, she could possibly serve simultaneously as councilwoman and freeholder.

Said Mrs. Sigmund: "I'm not making any predictions."

129 TO GRADUATE
From Montgomery High School. The fifth Commencement exercises for Montgomery High School are scheduled to be held Thursday at 6:30 p.m. Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstances," played by the band, will open the ceremonies, followed by a welcome from Brenda Jernigan, class president. After the singing of the Star Spangled Banner and the invocation by the Rev. Roger W. Rozeboom, the choir, under the direction of Stephen Weicksel, will perform "O Come Let Us Sing," by Moyer.

Keith Black, president of the student council, is slated to give a talk on American values, while Carol Oates, valedictorian, will speak on loyalty and Joshua H. Felman, salutatorian, on "Where Do We Go From Here." Following excerpts from Die Meistersinger, played by the band, the vice principal, William Braukmann, will award the class honors, and Hatem Ben Salem, this year's AFS student, will give a brief presentation.

The presentation of the class will be by Walter W. Chesner,

PRINCETON M.D. SUED Over Vasectomy.

A Hamilton Township man who received a vasectomy in November, 1973, and then discovered his wife was pregnant in August, 1974, has filed a negligence suit in Mercer County Court against the Princeton Medical Center and the doctor who performed the operation, Dr. D. Barton Stevens.

The papers were filed last week and charged that the man, whose identity was being withheld, had requested the sterilization operation for "therapeutic purposes" and to "limit the size of his family."

Five weeks after the operation, he was married and in August of 1974 his wife was told she was pregnant, even though, the man alleges, Dr. Stevens told him he was sterile. The child was born this May.

Neither the Princeton Medical Center nor the Princeton Medical Group, with which Dr. Stevens is associated, had immediately received formal notification of the suit, which seeks restitution for the expenses the couple expect to incur during the "rearing, care, maintenance, and support" of the child.

Without commenting directly on this case, sources at the Medical Center indicated that vasectomies do not necessarily render a man sterile instantly. Months may be required in some cases for the individual's sperm reserve to be depleted.

FIRE INSPECTION SET
Parade Next Friday. Princeton's volunteer firemen will polish up their equipment and press their uniforms for their annual inspection Friday, June 27.

Firemen and equipment from all three Princeton companies will meet at 6:30 at the Chestnut Street station and proceed westerly on Nassau Street to the Battle Monument in front of Borough Hall. They will be accompanied by several bands.

The ceremonial inspection will take place then, with the Mayors of Township and Borough and representatives of Committee and Council participating.

PARK PARTY SET
By Quarry Group. To celebrate its recent success toward reaching the ultimate goal of a park on the quarry site, The Princeton Quarry Park Association will hold a

"Many People Party" Saturday from 4-8 on Spruce Street between Pine and Maple. Rain date is Sunday.

Hamburgers, hot dogs, homemade salads and desserts will be served. There will be a White Elephant table and all proceeds will go toward further efforts to acquire the park. The party is open to all.

MINI-FETE HELD

By Library Place Youngsters. Eleven Princeton youngsters staged a "mini-fete" on Library Place to benefit The Medical Center at Princeton. Carol Tate, Jack Stephenson, Julie Stephenson, Suzy Davidson, Drue Schreyer, Marie Marcantonio, Hali Lindbloom, Babbie Stephenson, Georgiana Krause, Susan Marcantonio and Allison Young thought up the mini-fete which featured a fortune teller, sponge toss, grab bag, tennis toss, basketball, and a make-up artist, plus lemonade, brownies and cupcakes. The children also sold handmade trays donated by Georgiana Krause's grandfather.

The event raised $43.94 for The Medical Center. The children requested that the money be used in the Pediatrics Department.

Congenital defects of the heart or circulatory system occur in only a small percentage of children in this country, according to authorities, and usually they are responsible for only about two percent of all cardiac patients. Some of the causes of congenital defects are unknown. It is known, however, that if a woman has an attack of German measles, during the early months of pregnancy, her child may be born with a defective heart, or other defects. During the pregnancy of every woman, great care must be taken to protect her health.

OBITUARIES

Millard Meiss, 71, 43 Maxwell Lane, professor emeritus of art history at the Institute for Advanced Study, died June 12 at his home. He was one of the world's leading authorities on late Medieval and Renaissance painting.

Widely admired as a writer, teacher and connoisseur, Dr. Meiss held many awards and honorary degrees, the most recent being a Doctor of Letters conferred on him last month by Columbia University.

Dr. Meiss last year completed the third and final volume of his monumental "French Painting in the Time of Jean de Berry." The work, organized around the collections of the 15th-century Duc de Berry, is a study of late 14th-century and early 15th-century French painting set against its historical, religious and intellectual background.

Born in Cincinnati, Dr. Meiss studied architecture at Princeton rather than art history. After his graduation in 1926 he worked in the construction industry while continuing school at night. He began his graduate studies first at Harvard and then at New York University where he earned his Ph.D.

Dr. Meiss taught at Harvard, Columbia and Princeton and served as curator of paintings at Harvard's Fogg Museum, guest director and visiting scholar at I Tatti, the Harvard sponsored center for Renaissance culture in Florence, and editor in chief of the Art Bulletin. In 1958 he succeeded his former teacher, Erwin Panofsky, at the Institute for Advanced Study. He retired last year.

Dr. Meiss's skills as an administrator led to his chairmanship of the American Committee to Rescue Italian Art damaged in the 1966 Florence flood. He had just completed work on "The Painter's Choice—Problems in the Interpretation of Renaissance Art," a selection of his essays which will be published by Harper and Row.

Dr. Meiss is survived by his widow, Margaret, a psychotherapist; a daughter, Dr. Elinor Siner, a psychiatrist and psychoanalyst; a sister, Janet M. Friedaman of Cincinnati and two grandchildren.

A private funeral service was held in New York at Temple Emanuel-El. There will be a memorial service in the fall at the Princeton University Chapel.

Edward M. Haynes, 91, 5 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell, died June 11 in Hunterdon Medical Center. He was the retired business administrator for the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute at Skillman where he had been employed for 45 years.

A lifelong area resident, Mr. Haynes was a member of the Calvary Baptist Church of Hopewell, serving as superintendent of the Sunday school and as clerk of the church. He was a 60-year member of Hopewell Lodge No 155 F&AM, a member of the Scottish Rite Valley of Trenton, Crescent Temple and Tall Cedars of Lebanon of Trenton, and was secretary-treasurer of the Highland Cemetery Association of Hopewell for many years.

Surviving are a son, Edward M. Jr of Flemington; a stepson, Stephen Wood of Hamilton Square; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret H. Winant of New Brunswick and Mrs. Alice Shurtleff of Hillsboro Beach, Fla.; a sister, Mrs. Mary Green of Pennsylvania and seven grandchildren.

A service was held in Hopewell, the Rev. Bruce Pullen of Calvary Baptist Church and the Rev. Robert Beringer of the First United Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Highland Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Calvary Baptist Church memorial fund or to the Hopewell Fire Department Ambulance Corps.

Frederick R. Luck, 78, 4 Lakeview Avenue, Kingston, died June 12 in the Princeton Medical Center. He was a nurseryman for the Princeton Nurseries.

Born in Kent, England, Mr. Luck was a Kingston resident for the past 52 years. He was an English Army veteran of World War I and a charter member of the Kingston Volunteer Fire Company.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret Smith Luck; a daughter, Mrs. Robert B. Henderson of Stamford, Conn. and two grandchildren. The service was held at a Monmouth Junction Funeral Home with interment in Franklin Memorial Park, North Brunswick.

Mrs. Catherine M. Bleiler, 78, 2398 Princeton Pike, Lawrence Township, died June 12 in Helene Fuld Medical Center. She was a retired employee of the Kuhn-

Jacob Molding Co.

Mrs. Bleiler was a member of the Rosary and Altar Society of St. Ann's Church, the Mount Carmel Guild and the Senior Citizens Club of Lawrence Township.

Widow of Carl V. Bleiler, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. John Rartolino of Lawrence Township, three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. Ann's Church, and interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

John A. Nalbone, 58, 2013 Lawrence Road, died June 11 at Helene Fuld Medical Center. A World War II Veteran, he was employed as a construction repairman for the State Transportation Department for 23 years.

He is survived by his wife, Ann; two sons, John A. Jr. and Wayne, both at home; two brothers, James of Ewing Township and Samuel of Collingswood; two sisters, Mrs. Sadie Brancolini of Trenton and Mrs. Rose Schifano of Ewing.

Mass of Christian burial was celebrated at St. James Church with interment in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Charles Timothy Barr, infant son of Charles T. and Darlene P. Barr, 7 Heathcote Road, Kingston died June 14 in Children's Hospital, Philadelphia.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a brother, David Scott Barr, at home; his maternal grandfather, Henry A. Pinter of Rocky Hill; and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. George P. Barr of Kingston. Private interment was held in Rocky Hill Cemetery, Monsignor John J. Endebeck of St. Paul's Church officiating.

David Day, 50, of Gwynedd Valley, Pa., died June 16 at home. A lawyer, he lived at 62 Wheatsheaf Lane for four years before moving to Pennsylvania a year ago.

Born in Tennessee, Mr. Day was a graduate of the University of Tennessee and received his law degree from Temple University. Formerly a lawyer with Ticketron, he was counsel and secretary of American Electronic Labs in Colmar, Pa. at his death.

He is survived by his wife, Noreen; a daughter, Ellen, from a former marriage; a step-daughter, Mrs. Jennifer Tomberlin of Berkeley, Calif.; and a step-son, Gavin Hood, a student at the Philadelphia Textile Institute.

The service was held at the Church of the Messiah, Gwynedd Valley.

Kermit R. Rolland, 58, 337 Princeton Road, Plainsboro, died June 14 in Middlesex General Hospital in New Brunswick. An army veteran of World War II, he was president of Scribe, Inc., of Princeton.

Surviving are his wife, Justine Casteel Rolland; a son, Christopher of Ogden, Utah, two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Gorrie and Miss Elizabeth Rolland, both of Plainsboro; and a brother, Max Rolland of Deans.

A memorial service was held at the Princeton University Chapel. Contributions may be made to the Heart Fund.

ORC A Subtle Monster?
To the Editor of Town Topics:
I am afraid we have a subtle monster in our midst! According to a UPI report it seems that Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton has conducted a biased survey—this time against a proposed governmental consumer protection agency.

The report says that Senator Charles Percy requested that a study be made of the survey in question because the results of the survey conducted by Opinion Research ran counter to the mail he had received.

The study made by an expert in the Library of Congress found the biased method. The method used is to place questions so skillfully that the result achieved is the one desired by those paying for the survey; which may not be what the victimized citizen honest customers and not really wanted.

Isn't the Justice Department interested in this kind of subtle monsterism? I shall write and ask them: "Does a surveying organization have the right to cause innocent, cooperating citizens to vote against themselves?"

In this instance those paying for the polling lost out. Even though the survey showed the desired result they'd paid for, the mail of the Senate members showed a different desired result, so the Senate passed legislation to create the agency protecting the consumer.

In the meantime people should protect themselves by asking who is paying for the survey; or, refuse to answer questions. The surveying organization should choose

Sayen Says He'll Win.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
I should like to take great exception to the editorializing in your recent June 5th issue concerning the primary results for County Executive. You stated in the article: "results seemed a clear indication that Mr. Sypek will be County Executive when the ballots are counted in November."

The person who wrote that article did not do his or her homework.

Given the amount of people voting in one party or the other in a primary has no bearing on final election — particularly in Mercer County. I just ask that you look at previous results in this county.

I shall not go into all the political reasons why my victory is more than probable in November — such reasons as, (1) An off-year which means the "out" party has a better chance; (2) In 11 of the 13 municipalities our best vote-getters are at the head of the ticket for Assembly; (3) Four Republicans have won in the past nine years on a county-wide basis, i.e., Weidel, Meredith, Iorio and Snedeker; (4) The abysmal show of the Democrats in Trenton.

All of these are valid reasons for optimism, but the overriding pragmatic political reason for the justification of my contention (with the proper campaign) I shall win in November, is the fact that last November, the voters in Mercer County stated overwhelmingly they were not

MERGER PLANNED
Of Savings Associations.
Princeton Savings and Loan Association and Peoples Savings and Loan Association of Somerville have announced plans to merge contingent upon receipt of approval from the regulatory authorities. The boards of directors of both institutions approved the merger agreement at recently-held special meetings, and have filed applications for supervisory approval with the New Jersey Department of Banking and the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Mr. Barth joined First Charter in 1968 and was named president in 1971. He is chairman of the board for the New Jersey Training School for Boys, president of the Thomas A. Edison Council for the Boy Scouts of America, and trustee of the South County Hospital Development Board.

Mr. Barth attended Rutgers and Columbia Universities and received his banking training at Chase Manhattan Bank, New York. Before joining First Charter, he was executive vice-president of Forsgate Farms, Inc., Jamesburg.

GRAND OPENING SET
By Bank on June 28. Steve Zabel, star line-backer of the Philadelphia Eagles, and Bob Tucker, tight-end of the New York Giants, will be present at West Windsor's State Bank Grand Opening Celebration on Saturday, June 28, from 9 to 1.

Both athletes will give their fans autographed photos and will also be available for candid shots. The first 500 will receive a poster for framing and hanging in family, den, youngsters' bedroom, or game room.

Visitors to the bank will also enjoy refreshments, coffee, doughnuts and soda and receive a remembrance. Youngsters will play the popular penny game attempting to place as many pennies as possible in the bank in a prescribed time. They will receive the bank and the pennies as a memento of the day.

All visitors will have an opportunity to try their luck with a magic key. If it opens the treasure chest, the contestant will receive a valuable gift. Gifts will be available for those opening or adding to an account.

West Windsor State Bank is located at 47 Princeton-Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction.

If you like Town Topics, the best way to show your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

institution in both Princeton and Somerville will be "Princeton Savings and Loan Association." Its home office will remain at 132 Nassau Street.

"The merger would be to the mutual advantage of both associations and their memberships," according to a statement released jointly by William H. Boozer, Jr., president of Princeton, and David Febo, president of Peoples. "It would substantially broaden the total market of the two institutions and improve the present strengths of our offices in serving our depositors."

Founded in 1917, Princeton Savings merged with Lawrenceville Savings and Loan Association in 1973, and subsequently opened a new and larger office in Lawrenceville to better serve its customers. "We have traditionally emphasized quality services, facilities and high savings interest rates for our customers," Mr. Boozer said. "It's a tradition we have every intention of following as we grow in the years ahead."

Mt. Rose Rd., Hopewell 466-0530

Road is immediately north of the U.S. 1 and Interstate 295 interchange.

Designed by the national architectural and engineering firm of Welton Becket Associates, the gleaming white brick-and-glass store will be the western anchor for the enclosed two-level mall. Slender panels of clear glass will rise to the parapet of the store from the top of the domed canopies at two of its entrances. The canopies will cantilever 16 feet from the building to provide protective entrances to the store. Both entrances will connect the parking level with the store's upper level.

Inside the skylighted vestibules, dramatic mirrored walls, nearly two stories tall and 56 feet long, will blend the reflected images from the sky with the glittering images of lights that will line the mullions between the sheets of exterior glazing. The lights will delineate each of the eight frames holding the 22-foot-high sheets of glass.

Shoppers also may enter the store from either the upper or lower mall levels. A landscaped entrance on the northeast corner will lead directly to the lower level budget store, the restaurant, and the store proper. The restaurant will have counters and a table service area capable of accommodating Manager and Paperback and approximately 125 diners.

RECORD INCOME IN 1975 For Mathematica

Mathematica of Princeton Junction expects revenues for the year ended June 30, 1975, to increase to $14,800,000 compared to $11,800,000 in 1974. Income before extraordinary items is expected to be approximately the same as the figure for last year, $582,000, equal to 83 cents per share, according to Tibor Fabian, president.

While in 1974 Mathematica had a non-recurring gain of approximately 7 cents a share, resulting from the sale of an interest in a European company, in 1975 Mathematica expects a 7 cents per share non-recurring loss, resulting from the sale of certain investments. Net income for the current year is expected to be $532,000 equal to 76 cents per share, compared with $634,000, or 91 cents per share in 1974.

The results reflect a change in revenue mix in the fourth quarter emphasizing a lower margin sector of the business and a hard view of certain European and domestic receivables which the company presently believes may be uncollectable. In addition, a small subsidiary, which now has been reorganized, performed poorly during the past year.

Dr. Fabian said that the company's financial position remains strong, with stockholders' equity at year end expected to amount to $3,850,000, or $5.50 per share, compared to $3,450,000, or $4.94 per share in 1974.

Currently it is set up as three very spacious apartments. Living room, sitting room, bedroom, bath and kitchen on the first floor. Living room, three bedrooms, kitchen and bath on the second, and living room, kitchen, two bedrooms and bath on the third. All are large rooms--light, bright and liveable.

This is a property for a small family who could live in one apartment and rent the others to help cover carrying charges - or for the large family desiring a gracious, spacious older home - with all the amenities of today!

The two towering purple beech trees on either side of the entrance walk add yet another note of distinction to a property fairly priced at just

LOOKS CAN BE DECEIVING

This newly listed brick and frame two-story in a pleasant Edgerstoun area looks from the outside like an appealing small house but the inside opens up to provide ample living space for a large, multi-aged family. On the first floor are entrance hall, pretty living room with fireplace and sliding glass doors opening to the wooded grounds, dining room with bay window, cheery kitchen with eating space, 3 good bedrooms and 2 baths. The second floor consists of two spacious rooms, big enough for "dormitories" but with the cozy, eavesy appeal of attic hideaways, many built-in shelves and cabinets, and full bath. Most of the basement area has been handsomely finished into a fine big, light family room and a good study (usable as a 6th bedroom) and a half bath with plumbing for shower. In addition, there is a "game room" big enough for a ping-pong table and a utility-work room. The house is solid well-built, in good condition, and attractive. Combine those assets with all that space and an excellent location, and we think you'll agree that this house is unusually fairly priced at

THREE EXCITING THINGS

make this listing well worth considering - or reconsidering! First, the lovely, lovely no-maintenance land - two and a half wooded acres in the rural northwestern section of Princeton Township. Second, the sturdy, all brick construction and unbelievably large rooms of the house itself. Huge living room with fireplace, separate dining room, cozy panelled study, 3 family sized bedrooms, two and a half baths - and a fine spacious kitchen.

And last but not at all least - the very recent reduction in price to a most appealing (possibly also for rent at $500 a month)

LOVELY OLD MIRRORS. make lovely wedding gifts. Actually, mirrors do more for a decorative whole than any other single piece. Often the last purchase of young marrieds. Through the years, we've acquired a good number. Reasonable, and with some charm, from Chippendale to Art Deco.

GEORGE BRAOSEN ETCHINGS - having collected Bradshaw for many years, we have an unusual selection, Nassau Hall, the State House, Moore's Mill, and Barnegat Light, among others.

What do we have in storage, all but forgotten? Large primitive ox yoke, a fine wicker baby carriage of the 1890's, a grindstone, two butter churns, a scythe (like Father Time's). A large spring water bottle in a rocking crate with an early Princeton date. A pump, of the 1890's, probably from the yard or the kitchen sink.

A moderately priced gateleg walnut table, oval in shape. It could turn out to be really old. Only "BLITZ" can tell us

News Of The THEATRES

MUSICAL OPENS SEASON
At Open Air Theatre, "Crossing!," a musical dedicated to the American Bicentennial, will be the opening attraction at the Open Air Theatre in Washington Crossing State Park, to be presented on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings, June 19, 20, 21, 26, 27 and 28, at 8:30.

The play tells of the events surrounding Washington's crossing of the Delaware on Christmas night, 1776, to surprise the Hessians and capture Trenton. More specifically, it is the story of young Lieut. James Monroe (later President) who, as a green 17-year-old fresh from William and Mary, led a wild bunch of Virginia farm boys in the raid on the Hessian Armory in Trenton, and of his romance with Christine Wyncoop, with Angel Fario in the role on Friday evenings.

Members of Washington's staff who appear in this production are Mitch Graff as Major General Nathaniel Green; Jeff Young as Washington's aide and secretary, Captain James Moore; Francis Weber as Lord Stirling, who insists he retain his title even though a colonel in the Continental Army; Jeffrey Keenan as Colonel George Weedon; and John Moss as Colonel John Glover, who leads the landlocked sailors whose job it is to ferry the army across the river.

The music for "Crossing!" was composed and orchestrated by Pennington composer Paul Hofreiter, a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music. He is also the organist at the First Presbyterian Church of Levittown, Pa., and directs the orchestra for Neshaminy's summer theatre program, "Summer Stock".

The book and lyrics for "Crossing!" are the work of Theodore Kloos, the director of music at Neshaminy High School, and Minister of Music at the First Presbyterian Church of Levittown. Over the past 18 years, he has been the director of more than 45 musical productions, been director and conductor for the new series of high school grand operas being prepared for Music Theatre International by Don Walker, is the founder and director of the Neshaminy High School Concert Choir, and founded the Summer Stock program of the Neshaminy School District.

For this year's presentation Robert Bolsover stars as George Washington, a role composed expressly with Mr. Bolsover in mind. He is well-known for his many appearances at the LaSalle Music Theatre. Craig Evans plays the bungling hero, James Monroe. Betsy Bomberger, former "Miss Bucks County" and "Miss Pennsylvania" finalist, plays Christine Wyncoop, with Angel Fario in the role on Friday evenings.

Members of Washington's staff who appear in this production are Mitch Graff as Major General Nathaniel Green; Jeff Young as Washington's aide and secretary, Captain James Moore; Francis Weber as Lord Stirling, who insists he retain his title even though a colonel in the Continental Army; Jeffrey Keenan as Colonel George Weedon; and John Moss as Colonel John Glover, who leads the landlocked sailors whose job it is to ferry the army across the river.

The part of Judge Henry Wyncoop is played by Tom Orr, with Cathy Cantwell appearing as his wife, while Nancy Butts plays their outspoken servant. Tory-sympathizers in Newtown are represented by the pompous Right Reverend Homer Whitley and his matchmaking wife. These roles, the only non-historical characters in the play, are performed by George McCorry and Kathi Johnson.

Much of the fun of "Crossing!" is provided by the tattered-damalion men of the Third Virginia Regiment, led by their frustrated sergeant, played by Rich Young, with Steve Ringold opening the production as Sam Browne. Other members of the regiment are David Prevost, Marty Krzywanos, David Young, Paul Soderbloom, Jim Luce, Reiner Birkenshock, Tom Fario, Jim Phillips.

When you think of food and beverage employees you think of capable, fast moving, slightly disheveled men and women who are anxious to serve you and other customers in usually restricted time periods. So you would think that these people would be especially practical and "sensible" in their private lives. Not so.

Here at the Inn we took a poll and discovered that we are romanticists; that is, believers in human individuality and in the power of imagination. We are also optimists, altruists, idealists and believers in change as inevitable.

Now that we have discovered these traits in ourselves, we're beginning to wonder about our customers.

Come in and tell us how you are.
We're busy, but we will listen.

At luncheon, dinner or cocktails.

PREVIEW FRIDAY

For New Cabaret. The Inn Cabaret, the new weekly music and comedy revue in the Ships Room of the Nassau Inn, will open its doors to the public for the first time Friday, with performances at 9:30 and 11:30.

The performances are billed as a "Gala Preview" prior to the start of a six-week "mini-season" on Friday, July 4. The cabaret will feature a different show each week, presenting musical numbers and comedy sketches, many of them written especially for the cabaret.

According to Director Daniel F. Berkowitz, "we decided to have a 'preview' to give people an idea of what kind of material we'd be doing over the course of the summer. Also, since we have some writers who will be concocting things especially for our shows, we thought it would be good for them to start trying out their ideas as soon as possible."

The idea behind the cabaret, according to its planners, is "to provide a very informal nightclub atmosphere. We want to make it the kind of place where people can come after dinner or a movie and see professional entertainment without having to worry about getting all

The Summer Intime film series, a collection of 33 classic films in air-conditioned McCormick Hall, begins next Monday.

"Oh, Dad..." director, Peter Mark Schifter, comes to Princeton after graduating as the Shubert Fellow in Directing at the Yale School of Drama. He has studied at Ohio University and the Juilliard School of Drama.

The director will cast Georgine Freedman as Madame Rosepette, and Herbert McAneny as Commodore Roseabove. Eric Zwemer will portray the son, Jonathan, and Kimberly Myers will take on the role of the "babysitter," Rosalie. Philipp Jung will design the set for this production. "Oh, Dad..." runs July 4, 5, 6, 10, 11, 12.

In the Lower Room: Summer Intime's Midnight Cabaret will open July 5 and feature a program of songs and music from the 1930s to the '70s. Members of the SI company and guest artists will perform in this weekly program of music and comedy in the Lower Room, adjacent to Murray Theatre.

The Cabaret will offer a different program each Saturday night at midnight in a relaxed atmosphere. Admission is $2, with a discount for those who have attended the Saturday night presentation at the theatre. Refreshments will be sold.

The Summer Intime Children's Workshop still has openings available in its Saturday morning program for children ages 8-12. The students will be taught by company members Winnie Holzman and Lisa Burns.

The course will introduce children to basic techniques of theatrical presentation and imaginative improvisation, culminating in a production created by the children for their parents and friends. Registration closes Saturday, and enrollment is limited. The program begins June 28, and runs for eight Saturday mornings from 10-12. The cost is $50.

Brochures are now available with all the details about the Summer Intime season. Subscriptions are offered for both the Summer Intime Drama and Film Series. Call 452-8181 for reservations and information or write Summer Intime, Hamilton Murray Theatre, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. Inquiries about the Children's Workshop should be addressed to Kimberly Myers, general manager.

IT'S NEW To Us

ARTISTS TAKE NOTE
Color Wheel Now Open. Last winter after a 15-minute drive in spite of an aching back to purchase three tubes of paint in order to finish a class assignment, art major Judy Masterson decided with her teacher, Pat Hutchinson, it was time to do more than complain about the dearth of art supplies in the Hopewell Valley area.

"This is the outskirts of the New Hope circle of artistic influence," said Pat. "Many local people paint on their own and yet the area has had a need for art supplies." However, the opening of their new store, Color Wheel, should fill this void.

While both women speak enthusiastically about future plans, the present emphasis is on painting needs for the beginner to professional. They carry several brands of paints, such as Grumbacher and Utrex, and a complete line of colors, including the new metallics. While the prices of the oils and acrylics vary depending upon the minerals involved, the watercolor tubes are 60 cents each.

NEW STORE FOR ARTISTS: At Color Wheel, Pennington's newly-opened art supply store, Pat Hutchinson measures a piece of canvas. Several types are available and the store will do the stretching for you.

In all fields there are constant improvements and many artists now use paper palettes. These waxed sheets make for an easy clean-up job, and a pad of 50 9 x 12 sheets costs only $2.25. Soon to come are plastic and tin palettes which still seem best for watercolors.

Wide Choice of Paper. The paper selection is excellent, including sheets for watercolor, pastels, charcoal, bristol board for pen and ink, and mat board for framing which the Color Wheel will cut for you if you don't care to do it yourself.

The watercolor paper comes in several different grades ranging from 18 cents a sheet to $1.30 for the arches. Pat told us they have been particularly interested in carrying inexpensive drawing papers for students who might just need a few sheets and certainly don't wish to buy a whole pad. However, pads are also available.

There are also blocks of watercolor paper, which saves the time and effort of wetting, stretching and gluing the paper, and as in the individual sheets many grades are available. The prices vary with the grade, but a medium quality 12 x 16 block of 24 sheets costs $6.75.

For oil and acrylic painters there are canvases (linen or cotton duck, unfinished or primed) and stretchers; and if you like the Color Wheel will stretch the canvas for you. We also saw pre-stretched canvases on boards, all set to go, $2.60 to $4.35; and for the beginners canvas on cardboard.

Other supplies include drawing pencils; palette knives; gift sets of pastels, oils or watercolors; the Grumbacher library of instruction books which includes a color computer; lots of brushes; pen sets; and beautiful custom studio easels.

Future plans include other art areas. Modeling clay is already in stock and the sculpture tools are on order. Then to come are ceramic glazes, block printing needs, silk screen paraphernalia, hard-back art books and metal section frames.

Gallery Space Also. Part of the store has been devoted to a gallery which is currently exhibiting a selection of Pat's works. Flora and fauna is the theme of the show and the selections represent her wide use of mediums.

Pat, who graduated with a Masters in Fine Arts from Penn State, has taught art at Penn State, Ocean County College, Mercer County Community College and presently at Trenton State. While she works in many areas, she says "people are my favorite," and she will do portraits in graphite, pastels or oils, $15 to $75.

The gallery is also showing wood carvings of waterfowl by Harry Hutchinson. These lovely birds include several ducks, a whale and sandpipers, $10 to $100.

Color Wheel is also planning summer art classes. Pat will teach both drawing and watercolor from June 25 to August 1, and each class is limited to eight. Then in August Linda Osborne, who studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and has taught several previous classes, will teach Landscape in any media. Weather permitting all work will be done outdoors. Tuition for each class is $20. Please call 737-1229 to register.

Located at 23b West Delaware Avenue in Pennington (behind the Reynolds's Shop), Color Wheel is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9 to 5 and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9.

The Anacostia Museum at The Smithsonian Institute in Washington has produced six copies of the exhibition of black history in America to travel throughout the country during 1975.

The exhibition relates the story of blacks who helped explore, conquer and settle the western portion of the United States. In the 16th century, there were blacks with the Spanish explorers and the first settlers in California. They founded towns in Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Washington. Over 8,000 blacks rode the cattle trails. There were four infantry and cavalry units in the U.S. Army.

There were black government agents, marshals and homesteaders.

John Kinard, director of the Museum, says, "This exhibition has been created to spotlight the struggle, the achievements and the compelling desire that we continue to explore and establish."

In September from Rider College, where she is a fine arts major. Mr. Thompson attended Pratt Institute and was graduated from Drexel University with a B.S. in physics and a B.S. in civil engineering. Currently employed as a research engineer at the N.J. Department of Transportation, he will attend graduate school at the University of Miami Rosenstiel School of Atmospheric and Marine Science as an ocean engineering major.

distributing company specializing in unusual gifts by handcraftsmen. Now this company has converted a portion of its offices into a retail outlet store carrying the full gift line, plus some special closeouts.

One of the loveliest selections at Hopewell House Gift Shop is the nature's jewelry. Real leaves and marine life are dried, preserved forever with an 18 karat gold finish, and then fashioned into earrings, pins and pendants. You can choose from mushrooms, holly leaves, cockle shells, sand dollars or sea horses to name just a few, priced from $6 to $10 with a special dollar savings currently in effect.

June is graduation month, and what could be a nicer remembrance of his or her alma mater than a hand-painted watercolor print of the campus. Each is an individually rendered watercolor over lithographed penline, nearly the same process used by Currier and Ives 100 years ago. More than 200 schools are included, and they are available either matted or framed, $8.95 or $17.95 respectively.

Also available are many local scenes and a Bicentennial series that includes Independence Hall and Washington Crossing the Delaware.

No matter what the job or hobby, it can be honored with a Rock. These are hand-painted Delaware River rocks (smoothed and shaped over the years by river currents) that artist Ted Ehman turns into amusing and colorful figures. They cost $24, and for an additional $3 they can be personalized.

Studio Acrylics has also designed professional and sporting figures, such as a photographer wrapped up in his film and a v.i.p. relaxing at his desk, $18 and $30. There are also several discontinued models available at $10 each.

From Nuts and Bolts... Figurines seem to have a continuing appeal and artists are always looking for new approaches. One of the most unusual are the Rock Creek metal characters made with a series of nuts and bolts. They start at $1.50 for a caterpillar and go up to $11.95 for a most appealing high-wheel bicycle.

Owner Hunter Corbett tries to locate out-of-the-ordinary gifts such as clocks made from old harnwood, from $39.95; and Nature's Notes by Rachel Horne. A naturalist and artist, Mrs. Horne has designed a series of postcards and notepaper with lovely pictures of seashore birds, birds from the woods and fields and small animals— all shown in their natural habitat, $1.50 for 10 notes.

Especially handsome are the handset mosaic picture frames and pill boxes by Regalo of Florence; the natural wood cars and trucks, from $2.50; and the plexiglass (clear or brightly colored) key tags which can be personalized, $5.

With the oil embargo last year the cost of acrylics became prohibitive, and so Mr. Corbett has discontinued this line. However, several pieces ranging from a wine rack to candle holders and from a small table to a dictionary stand are still available at excellent savings. The Florentine leathers have also been discontinued, but a few wallets and letter openers are still available, $3 and $1 respectively.

Located in the historic Hopewell House Inn which dates from colonial times, Hopewell House Gift Shop is open Monday through Friday from 10 to 5. Saturday hours will resume after Labor Day.

Stop Smoking in 5 Days

In response to many requests, The Princeton Medical Center will again sponsor the Five Day Plan to Stop Smoking. Dr. Robert Krebs, Director of Utilization at the Medical Center has announced.

"Of the nearly 70 people enrolled in the last program, all but three did stop smoking," said Dr. Krebs. "We think it worthwhile to sponsor this non-profit program again as a service to the public."

The next session of the Five Day Plan to Stop Smoking is scheduled for October. Interested persons are asked to watch TOWN TOPICS in the fall for dates and registration information.

Jaws. If you are one of the few who hasn't read Peter Benchley's best-selling book "Jaws," you are making a mistake if you think you can fill in the gap by seeing the movie which begins a long-run stay at the Garden this week.

The sex in the novel has been eliminated. So has most of the gore. What has been effectively retained is the story of a shark that kills one swimmer and terrorizes a Long Island beach resort community and the men committed to finding and destroying the big fish.

Despite the reworking of the novel by Hollywood, author Peter Benchley, a Princeton resident, reports that he likes what the moviemakers have done with his book. So, too, will most of those who see the film.

The suspense between the meeting of the shark and those committed to killing it builds to an almost unbearable degree. And director Steven Spielberg receives fine performances from the three main male characters in the film.

Roy Scheider is Brody, the police chief of the community, who bears the burden of responsibility for protecting the people; Richard Dreyfuss is a young shark expert who joins in the search for the shark; and Robert Shaw is a veteran shark fighter who has a fatal confrontation with the shark.

After a suspenseful buildup, none can match the real star, however.

None can match the real star, however. After a suspenseful buildup, when the shark finally strikes the 4th of July bathers, the heart-stopping terror is real.

To portray the killer, the studio constructed three mechanical models operated by compressed air and used actual footage from underwater shots of the great white shark. In sum, though redone, the movie is just as good as the book.

PRINCE
NIGHT MOVES. Director Arthur Penn's ability to bring contemporary meaning to time-honored movie styles was demonstrated by his treatment of gangsters in "Bonnie and Clyde" and epic Western heroes in "Little Big Man."

In "Night Moves" he turns his attention to the detective story but the raised expectations are not met this time; only Penn's loyal following will be happy with this film.

Penn is incapable of directing a simple story. In his ambitious attempt to achieve intellectual significance, he ignores the traditional concern of "Who did it?" in favor of speculating on the implications of "What difference does it make?"

Gene Hackman is a Los Angeles private eye hired by a boozey ex-movie actress (Janet Ward) to locate her missing daughter. In the course of his search, Hackman stumbles across several corpses. Figuring in his suspicions are the girl's wealthy stepfather, the latter's mistress and an aging movie stuntman.

This scenario should have been able to sustain a workable thriller, but the plot isn't allowed to develop. Suspense is totally abandoned for extended periods while

"Jaws" Benefit Planned

Princeton will be the scene of a world-premiere of "Jaws." There will be two showings of the Peter Benchley film at the Garden on Friday—the first at 8 o'clock benefit premiere with an introduction by the author and a dance following.

Reservations at $17.50 of which $14.50 is tax deductible, may still be obtained by calling 924-8034. A second showing, which will also benefit the Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation, will be held at 10:30. Tickets may be obtained at the RP office, 12 Nassau Street, or at the box office for $5.

RP is an eye disease which may lead to blindness for many young people. No medical or surgical cure or treatment is presently known. The Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation disseminates information to victims and their families and coordinates research nationally and internationally in an effort to find the cause or cure of this disease.

Penn and Alan Sharp, who wrote the screenplay, explore the alienation that seems to have afflicted every character in the film. Hackman's estrangement from his wife and his distaste for his profession receive central attention.

Eventually, the film returns to the scene of the crime and implicates most of the characters in a smuggling conspiracy, but the extent of the collusion is never made clear; a million plot threads are left hanging.

Only those who like films that end in obscurity and Gene Hackman fans will find "Night Moves" worth the effort. Hackman gives a superb performance. The title, incidentally, is a pun on 'knight moves,' referring to Hackman's preoccupation with chess.

MONTGOMERY

The Great Waldo Pepper. Director George Roy Hill in his first film since "The Sting" has lovingly evoked another chapter of mythical America in "The Great Waldo Pepper," teaming again with Robert Redford.

Redford stars as a daredevil, barnstorming pilot of the 1920s, one of the last of a dying breed who didn't let the Armistice keep them from the challenge and freedom of the clouds.

Free spirit that he is, Redford refuses to look reality and an era that is rapidly passing him by squarely in the eye. As planes become more commonplace, barnstormers find it increasingly hard to rustle up a crowd. After a while, even stunts like wing-walking fail to excite the voracious public.

There is a tragic accident that leads to Redford's suspension and he winds up as a stunt pilot under an assumed name. Before the film ends he must choose between jail below and the eternal freedom of the clouds.

The film falters when it becomes involved in this celestial philosophizing, but what more than saves it are the breathtaking aerial stunts—wing-walking, dogfights, auto-to-airplane transfers, a hop from the wing of one place to the wing of another while in midflight. All are flawlessly executed and devoid of any corner-cutting.

Here's a report that surprises a lot of people... A study was made comparing baseball attendance in proportion to the population, and contrary to popular opinion, baseball in the 1970s is actually drawing better in proportion to the total population than it used to... This study shows that in the 1920s, the U.S. population averaged about 120-million while major league baseball averaged about 9-million paid fans a year, or about 8 percent of the population... In the 1930s, U.S. population averaged 125-million while baseball drew about 8-million people a year, or about 7 percent of the population... In the 1940s, 1950s and 1960s, baseball attendance averaged about 10 percent of the population... But last year, with the U.S. population at about 211-million, major league baseball drew about 30-million paid fans, or about 14 percent of the population.

Did you know there are only four golfers in history who have been able to win all four of golf's major tournaments?... Golfers consider the major tournaments to be the Masters, PGA, British Open and U.S. Open and the only golfers who have won all four of these tournaments in their careers are Jack Nicklaus, Gene Sarazen, Gary Player and Ben Hogan.

Scott Quackenbush New Springdale Champion After Six-and-Five Triumph over Alan Frank, Jr.

Scott Quackenbush, a Princeton University junior whose home is in Rocky Hill, is the 1975 Springdale Golf Club champion and at 20 is one of the youngest players ever to win the title. Club records dating back to the 30s show that other undergraduates have won the annual tournament but exact ages are not available.

He triumphed by 6 and 5 in the 36-hole final over Alan Frank Jr. Quackenbush is a member of the Princeton University golf team which his father coaches. The latter was a finalist in the club championship eight years ago.

Frank, the medalist in the qualifying round with a 77, held brief leads in the match but was largely involved in catch-up golf, an assignment no easier on the links than in any other sport. He won the opening hole, lost the second and then won the third.

By the end of the first nine, however, Quackenbush was 1 up and he led by two at the lunch break after 18. He shot a 77, Frank a 79, and the only birdie each player made was on the 334-yard dogs-leg 11th, which they halved in 3.

Par golf on the afternoon round built an insurmountable lead for the winner. He was 4 up after 27 and closed out the match on the 31st hole—the 13th green. Over 31 holes, Quackenbush was five over par.

To reach the finals, the Princeton junior defeated Tom James, 4 and 3, Ben Herrman, 2 up, and Jim Litvack, 5 and 4. Litvack

WOMEN'S ROWING HERE

Four-Day Program on Lake. The Vesper Boat Club from Philadelphia and the Eastern Development crew are the early favorites to win the open eight competition, which will be the headline event during the 10th annual National Women's Rowing Championships, scheduled for Princeton's Lake Carnegie from Thursday through Sunday.

Both crews however, will be heavily pressed for top honors by the University of Wisconsin and Yale. The undefeated Radcliffe crew, the best college eight in the east this season as evidenced by its victory in the Eastern Sprints, will not take part in the Nationals in favor of a trip to West Germany.

Princeton's varsity eight could also be a factor in the open eight class, since Carol Brown and Janet Youngholm, who won the two oar without coxswain title last year, have decided to lend their talents to the varsity.

Competition in 18 classes will be held on Carnegie's Albridge C. "Bud" Smith 2000-meter course, which was the site of the 1975 men's Eastern Sprint Championships and has been the training home of the United States men's national rowing team.

The women's championships will attract 40 organizations and 196 individual competitors to the four-day event. Competition will begin Thursday, at 8:30 and conclude with the open-eight finals at 2:30 on Sunday. The starting time for Friday's events is 9; Saturday, 8:30; and Sunday, 10:30.

This year's regatta will mark the centennial anniversary of women's collegiate rowing in America. It will also be a main testing ground for rowers who will be seeking a berth on the 1976 United States Olympic team, when women's rowing becomes an official part of the Olympic program.

advanced Saturday morning when Dave Friedman, who had eliminated Mose Gates, and Fred Gallagher, 1 up, the defending champion, defaulted. Frank won his first match from Bill Millman, 3 and 2, and on Saturday eliminated former champion Kester Pierson, 1 up, before defeating Ross Shrader, a one-time senior champion, 3 and 1.

Winner of the First Flight was Ken Dawes, who took the last two holes from Woody Wirsig to win 1 up. On Saturday, Dawes defeated Jack Petrone, 2 and 1, and Willis Reed, 1 up, after Reed had won his morning round from Bob Hargraves by the same margin. Wirsig reached the finals with a 5 and 4 triumph over Kline Fulmer and a 5 and 3 victory over Kemp Roll. The latter advanced to the semi-finals when Don Conner defaulted.

Joe Masick won the Second Flight when he defeated Arne Booth, 3 and 2. Earlier, Masick had won, 2 up, from Frank Crecca and from Bob McCarthy by the same margin. Crecca's Saturday morning match was a 1 up victory over Jack Chidress. Booth reached the finals by defeating Ralph Allaire, 4 and 3, and Ralph Mather, 2 up. Mather advanced Saturday morning with a victory on the 20th green over Dave Savage.

Frank Dick won the Third Flight with a 5 and 3 triumph over Dick Schoch. On Saturday, Dick had topped B.E. Bergesen, 5 and 4, after winning by default from Don Shaw. Bergesen reached the quarter-finals with a 19-hole victory over Bob Clancy.

TIGERS STILL ACTIVE

In Golf and Tennis. Princeton University is competing in three national championships during the remainder of this month. The women's tennis team will begin the action on Sunday, in the National Women's Tennis Intercollegiates at Kalamazoo, Mich., while the men's tennis team is in the NCAA Tennis Championships in Corpus Christi, Texas, which began Monday.

Senior golfer Jeff Lindvall will carry the Princeton colors into the NCAA Golf Championships in Columbus, Ohio, starting Thursday. Lindvall, a three-time All-Ivy performer, will be making his second appearance in the NCAA tournament.

The women's tennis team, which posted an 8-0 record this spring, will line up with senior Louise Gengler, juniors Mo Curran and Julie Kirkham and freshman Linda Rice. They will each compete in the singles competition while Kirkham-Rice and Curran-Gengler will team together in the doubles competition.

The undefeated men's tennis team, with an 11-0 record, and a current winning streak of 34 straight, hopes for a high finish in the team standings behind the performances of juniors Bob Fisher and Bill Dutton sophomore John Hayes and freshman Jon Gross.

TWO ON TOP

Firmenich, Norelco in Lead. Firmenich maintained its firm hold on first place in the National Division of the Princeton Business Softball League last week while Norelco kept first place in the American Division.

Firmenich handed Forrestal Research Center its first defeat of the season, 8-6. Tom Hummer's perfect 3-3 batting led the way for Firmenich, and was backed by the 2 for 3 hitting of Bill Adams, Bob Daunais and winning pitcher Bob Elkins. Tom Wunderlich homered for the researchers.

Norelco took on a revamped Cities Service Research team, and got by, 10-3. The game was much tighter than the score appears, with Wayne Johnson's 3-3 night at the plate

PRINCETON UNBEATEN

In Babe Ruth Baseball. After four games as members of the Mercer County Senior Babe Ruth League, the Princeton team is 3-0-1 and owns a three-game win streak. In its last starts, Princeton defeated Jacobelli Builders, 6-2, and West Windsor, 7-2.

Against Jacobelli, southpaw Mike Boonin held the opposition to three hits, two of them by left fielder Tony Johnson. Princeton scored all of its runs in the second and third innings off pitcher Mike Cantwell.

In the second inning, Princeton combined bunt singles, a sacrifice fly and some Jacobelli errors for a pair of runs. In the next inning, Princeton reached Cantwell for four more hits, one a triple to deep left by left McCree hitting 2-3. Both Herb Layton and Bob Taskes hit 3-4 for Cyanamid.

United Jersey Banks overpowered Squibb, 12-3, in its comeback effort. Lou Educational Testing Service Sepanski put in a 3-4 night with edged ERC, 6-5, in a ten-hitter a home run and 4 RBI's, which had Chris Winings' Frank Cool was 2 for 4. triple tying the score in a key At the end of the seventh play, Bruce Szwast hit 2-2 for week of play the standings were:

Van Blommesteyn to Utah Tim Van Blommesteyn, who never had a regular job on the Princeton basketball team until after his senior year had started, has turned out to be one of the 60-70 most highly-regarded players drafted this year. Chosen last month by the New York Knicks, he was selected on Tuesday in the seventh round by the Utah Stars of the ABA.

Only about 60 to 70 players are picked in one season by both professional associations.

Eyeing the situation realistically, Van Blommesteyn, who was a major factor in the Tigers' NIT victory, expects that he will sign with Utah. He points out that in addition to Walt Frazier and Earl Monroe in the backcourt, the Knicks have a second-round draft choice-- named seven rounds before they chose him. He has also been approached by a team in Europe, and will make his choice before the various rookie camps begin toward the end of July.

fielder Dave Walker. Third baseman Greg Robinson contributed two singles and scored a pair of runs.

Against West Windsor, Princeton came back from a two-run deficit in the second inning to win. John Madden went the distance for the winners, pitching a no-hitter and striking out five in six innings in a game that was called because of darkness. Madden gave up two unearned runs, the result of an error.

Princeton scored twice in the second inning as Walker and Madden both doubled and Ed Volz singled. In the fourth, Princeton sent five runners across the plate. West Windsor helped the Princeton cause with four errors in an inning, highlighted by a bunt single by Eric Jahn which a pair of errors turned into a grand slam. Also connecting for Princeton in the fourth were Walker and shortstop Scott Thompson.

THREE ARE UNBEATEN

In Youth Baseball League. After the first two games of the 1975 season, the Princeton Youth Baseball league's championship may be about to change hands. Defending champion Post 76 is winless, while three pretenders-to-the-throne, Engine Co. 1, Roma Eterna and the Elks, are all undefeated.

Engine Co. 1 started off its season on a winning note with a 13-2 victory over U.A. Local 380. Although it managed to score 13 runs, No. 1 could get only four hits, one a triple by winning pitcher Brent Robinson, who struck out 11 batters. Connecting for Local 380 were James Noble and Josh Miller who each had two hits.

Against a young Eagles team, No. 1 once again rolled to a large margin of victory as it won, 13-3. Winning pitcher Judd Petrone struck out 11 and held the Eagles to just one hit, a single by Chris Mullusky, and connected for three hits. Also getting two hits each for No. 1 were Robinson and Steve Thompson.

Roma Eterna won its opening game, 5-4, against the defending champs, Post 76. John Kandell was the winning pitcher and, along with Steve MacDonald, provided the offense for Roma. Chip Kleiber pitched well for Post 76, striking out 11, and connecting for three hits. Clark Lipincott had two hits and John Cifelli hit a two-run triple to pace the losers.

Roma then made it two in a row with a 5-3 victory over Engine Co. 3. Rich Diefenderfer was the winning pitcher, getting offensive support from David Yim and John Kandell. The offense for No. 3 came from Dan Miller, who had a triple and two doubles, and Greg McGuinn and Dan Kirton, who each had doubles.

The Elks started off with a 13-6 victory over winless Eagles. Rich Landauer, the winning pitcher, also had two hits. Dave Hill helped with a three-run single. For the Eagles, Aaron Gross had a triple and Jeff Kenny had two hits.

The Elks needed eight innings to overtake Post 76 in a game which saw the Elks erase a nine-run deficit. Chris Henkel sparked the comeback with three hits and relief pitcher Joe Levine struck out eleven batters to gain the win. For Post 76, Chip Kleiber had two hits, one a double, and Engine Co. 3 began its season with a 14-5 victory over the Italian-American Sportsman Club. Dan Kirton was the winning pitcher, tossing a three-hitter and striking out 13. He also had three hits, one a double. Steve MacPherson had two hits for the winners. Chris Harford's two hits and one by Billy Perna accounted for IASC's three hits.

Local 380 evened its record with a 3-2 victory over IASC. Winning pitcher Mike McManus tossed a three-hitter and gained the victory on Rick Sibson's double. Billy Perna led the IASC offense.

LAST CHANCE THURSDAY

To Enter Women's Tournament. Princeton's first tennis tournament of the summer, the Women's Singles Tournament, will begin Saturday but Thursday is the final day that entries will be accepted.

Those who would like to participate and who haven't already submitted an entry blank should register at the Tennis Office at 71 University Place. The entry fee is $3.

Julie White (921-8047) is chairman.

BOYS' TENNIS HERE

Tournament Starts June 30. Princeton University's Church courts will be the site of this year's Princeton Boys' Open Tennis Championship to be held from June 30 to July 5.

Because this tournament is sanctioned by the USTA, players may count it as one of three tournaments needed to qualify for ranking in the Middle States region. Players may enter just one of the three age divisions in the open.

Princeton area players who wish to enter should pick up an entry blank at the Tennis Office, 71 University Place.

Entry fees are $4 for singles and $2.50 for each doubles entry. Competitors must be registered with the USTA, and USTA cards may be obtained at the time of registration for the tournament on June 30. The deadline for tournament entries is Friday, June 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lapidus head the tournament committee. As in past years, housing will be available for players travelling from outside the central New Jersey area. Anyone willing to help should call Mrs. Jerome Rose at 921-3263. Volunteers for transportation and hospitality should call Mrs. Richard Fluornoy (921-8010) or Mrs. Sanford Aronovic (921-6318).

For more information, call the Tennis Office at 924-4343.

TENNIS CLASSES BEGIN

For More Than 500. More than 500 area residents have begun attending summer tennis classes organized by the Community Tennis Program.

Nearly three-fourths of the players range from 8 to 18.

In addition, more than 100 adults are taking classes at

Jr. Tennis Dates Listed

Three junior tennis tournaments—two of them USTA-sanctioned—will be held in Princeton this summer.

They are the Princeton Boys Open for boys 14-16-18, June 30-July 5; the Princeton Junior Championship for boys and girls 12-14-16, July 14-18; and the Princeton Girls Open for girls 14-16-18, July 28-Aug. 1. Both open events are sanctioned.

Applications and a complete list of USTA tournaments for the Middle States Region and elsewhere for adult and junior players may be obtained from the Princeton Community Tennis Office, 71 University Place.

one of six locations: Community Park, the Hun School, Princeton High School, Princeton Day School and Princeton University's "Pagoda" and Church Courts.

Because classes are offered on a weekly basis, it's never too late to enroll. The cost is $9 per week, and anyone wishing to participate should stop by the Tennis Office at 71 University Place or call 924-4343.

WORKSHOP DRAWS 150

Tennis Instructors Here. The first annual tennis teachers workshop attracted more than 150 tennis teachers to the Princeton Indoor Tennis Center on Washington Road last weekend for an intensive program in tennis instruction.

John Conroy and Eve Kraft, co-directors of the Princeton Community Tennis Program, conceived the idea for showing tennis teachers the latest methods of individual and group instruction by putting them through basic drills and by discussing related topics such as class organization and scheduling.

Participants come from the Middle Atlantic States and New England to attend the two-day session. Assisting were staff members Shawn Tully, Doug MacCurdy, Karen Bull, Joe Diefenbach, John Zorzi and Bill Humes.

All proceeds of the workshop will benefit the scholarship program of the Youth Tennis Foundation of Princeton.

IVY ALONE ON TOP

In Adult Softball. After two weeks of play in the Princeton Recreation Adult Softball League, Ivy Inn is the only undefeated team. Ivy demonstrated potent hitting as it defeated Andy's, 15-4, and Plainsboro Package Store, 19-0.

In the Andy's game, Bill McQuade had four hits, one a homer, to lead the attack. Bob Klek also hit a home run for the winners. Against Plainsboro, Ivy collected five homers off the bats of George McVaugh, Bob Mucciarelli, Rich Volz, Mike Maguire and McQuade.

Center Sports put its offense and defense together to record two wins. It trounced Plainsboro Package Store, 16-1, as Dave Sweeney had five hits. The Center club was also aided by Plainsboro's defense which committed seven errors.

In a game which saw all Center Sports starters hit safely, P.M.C. fell, 8-1. For the winners, Bob Wiley homered.

In other league action, Andy's used an eight-run third inning and superior defense to defeat Conte's, 15-2. Tony Kaufman and Jim Wetterling had three hits apiece for Andy's. Conte's Luciano Rossi also collected three hits.

Kingston Wine &amp; Liquor rolled over P.M.C., 11-4, as Ed Coldren homered for the winners. Gregg Flamer had three hits for P.M.C. in a losing cause.

C.S.C. used steady defense to shutout Kingston Wine &amp; Liquor 2-0, as Kevin Scudder had three hits. Conte's defeated C.S.C. earlier in the week, 6-0, the losers getting only three hits. For Conte's, John Pesce had two hits and played a fine defensive game.

TWO WIN GOLD MEDALS

In Junior Olympics. The Princeton Junior Olympic track team faced stiff competition in the State Championships held at Elizabeth last week. This year was marked by talent from many different communities as compared to usual domination by Montclair and Princeton.

Julie Ellis of White Pine Lane and Trey Conte of Princeton Junction won gold medals in the standing long jump and 100 yard dash in Midget and Junior competition. Jimmy Pittman of River Road finished second in the Bantam 100 yard dash and the running long jump.

With state records being broken in many events, Randa Shahbender ran second for the Junior 100 yard dash and also ran the first leg of the second place girls relay team of Shahbender, Nicki King, Susan Wojeiechowitz and Judy Grisham.

The Bantam girls relay team of Annette Morrow, Kelly Wells, Kim Johnson and Ingrid Swenson finished third in their relay race, while the team of Jane Opperman, Tracy Kuhn, Melanie Goldfeld and Susie Haynes won the girls midget relay competition.

PROGRAM UNDER WAY

At Community Pool. The Princeton Recreation Department's free instructional program was scheduled to start this Wednesday at Community Pool with three days of evaluation to place children in proper classes for the first four-week session.

The evaluation will be held through Friday from 9:30 to 11:30. Those interested in the first session should come to the pool during one of these days with their bathing suits. Actual classes will begin Monday at 10 and continue through July 28. For those who cannot make the evaluation, absentee placement will be held through Wednesday, the 25th. Do not register your child unless you plan on being available for the entire four-week session.
